

Table of Contents

Introduction.....	5
Unit 1 Critical Setting and Tendencies.....	7
1.1 New historicism and cultural materialism.....	7
1.2 Dominant, residual and emergent ideologies	9
1.3 New historicists and cultural materialists	9
1.4 Practising new historicism and cultural materialism. Guidelines for tasks and assignments.....	9
1.5 Culture.....	11
1.5.1 Developing the concept	11
1.5.2 Culture and identity	13
1.5.3 The post-industrial society and culture as mass product.....	13
1.5.4 Literature – The novel today	15
1.5.5 Cultural studies.....	16
1.6 The popular culture as concept of the 80s.....	16
1.6.1 High and popular culture.....	17
1.7 The situation of popular fiction today	19
1.8 Postmodernism	20
1.8.1 Developing the concept	20
1.8.2 Featuring the concept in the arts	22
1.9 Historical background: the 80s in Britain	26
Unit 2 Gender and Sexual Sameness.....	30
2.1 Feminism	30
2.1.1 Developing the concept	30
2.1.2 Toril Moi's feminist literary criticism.....	32
2.1.3 Female / male, feminine / masculine in binary opposition.....	34
2.1.4 Doris Lessing.....	37
2.1.5 Angela Carter	38
2.2 Gender and family	41
2.2.1 Inside the family	41
2.2.2 The nuclear family in Britain	42
2.2.3 Margaret Drabble	43
2.2.4 Penelope Lively.....	45
2.3 The literature of sexual sameness – gay and lesbian literature	46
2.3.1 Homosexuality and British law	47
2.3.2 Identity and subcultural strategies.....	47
2.3.3 Lesbian / gay criticism	49
2.3.4 What is lesbian / gay literature?	50
2.3.5 Highlights of gay literature in English	50
2.3.6 Bernard Mac Laverty.....	51
2.3.7 Alan Hollinghurst.....	52
Unit 3 Narrating England and Writing London	56
3.1 Narrating the nation and the concept of Englishness	56
3.1.1 Nation and narrating the nation.....	56
3.1.2 England and Englishness.....	57
3.1.3 'England, our England'	58
3.2 Writing the city. Writing London.....	63
3.2.1 Peter Ackroyd.....	67
3.2.2 Penelope Lively.....	69
3.2.3 Michael Moorcock	70

3.2.4	Doris Lessing	72
3.2.5	Maureen Duffy	73
3.2.6	Jean Binta Breeze and Grace Nichols	74
3.2.7	Conclusions	77
Unit 4	Narrating Scotland and Writing Glasgow	79
4.1	Scottish cultural discourses: distorted myths (?)	79
4.1.1	The fall and rise of tartanry	80
4.1.2	Kailyard culture	82
4.1.3	Brigadoonery	82
4.1.4	Clydesideism and the workerist tradition	83
4.1.5	Conclusions	83
4.2	Identity in contemporary Scottish culture	84
4.3	Scottish Feminism	84
4.3.1	Liz Lochhead	84
4.3.2	Janice Galloway	86
4.3.3	A. L. Kennedy	88
4.4	Postmodernism and the City. Writing Glasgow	89
4.4.1	Alasdair Gray	89
4.4.2	James Kelman	92
4.4.3	Daniel O'Rourke	93
4.4.4	Ann Frances Broni	94
4.4.5	Alan Spence	95
4.4.6	Conclusions	96
Unit 5	Narrating Ireland and Writing Belfast	98
5.1	The concept of tradition in Irish literature	98
5.2	Historical and political background: Northern Ireland	99
5.2.1	Sectarianism, terror, turbulence and troubles	99
5.2.2	Essentials of the situation today	104
5.3	Constructs of the Northern Ireland conflict	106
5.3.1	The cultural basis of conflict	106
5.3.2	The structural basis of conflict	107
5.4	Violence and representation: culture and the Troubles. Belfast and writing Belfast	107
5.4.1	Bernard Mac Laverty	110
5.4.2	Ann Devlin	111
5.4.3	Glenn Patterson	112
5.4.4	Robert McLiam Wilson	113
5.4.5	Sectarian positions	115
5.4.6	Tom Paulin	117
5.4.7	Seamus Heaney	120
5.4.8	Michael Longley	126
5.4.9	Ciaran Carson	126
5.4.10	Louis (Frederick) MacNeice	128
5.4.11	Paul Muldoon	131
5.4.12	John Hewitt	133
5.5	Associated Poets	134
5.5.1	Craig Raine, Andrew Motion and Fleur Adcock	134
5.6	The committed drama	137
5.6.1	Brian Friel	138
5.6.2	Conclusions	141
	Glossary	143
	Bibliography	146
	Index of Authors	153